Join us as we explain our unique approach and leave you with practical yet neurologically complex activities to implement at school and home to build a solid foundation for happy learning and efficient function.

Explore the root causes of many modern learning, behavioural, attention and social challenges within the sensory motor systems and processing pathways of the learners' brain. Implement simple but effective tools and activities in your work to remove obstacles and enhance learning.

HANDLE® provides help for families sorting out issues of: perplexing behaviours, language delays, organisational problems, learning disabilities, sleep disorders, disorders deemed psychological in nature, maximising learning potential, work efficiency, and social interactions.

Compassionate Therapy presents in affiliation with the HANDLE Institute
